

CleanMax Solar donates 20 kWp solar power plant

Hyderabad: CleanMax Solar, sustainability partner for corporates in India, on Wednesday said it has donated a 20 kWp solar power plant to the gram panchayath of Komaravolu village in Andhra Pradesh. The plant was inaugurated on October 10, 2018, by AP chief minister N Chandrababu Naidu's wife Nara Bhuvaneshwari, who adopted the village under the 'Smart Village Smart Ward programme' to develop it into a model village. The village is estimated to save up to Rs 58,000 per year as the solar plant will approximately generate 29000 kWh electricity units per annum for the next 25 years. The project will meet 36% of the gram panchayat's electricity requirement through solar power. CleanMax Solar has installed more than 300 rooftop solar projects for over 100 corporates with a total operating rooftop solar capacity of more than 120 MW. CleanMax Solar also operates 330 MW of large-scale private solar farms in Karnataka and TN for supply to corporate customers. TNN
